THE MEANING OF CHRISTMAS – CONNECTING THE DOTS BETWEEN THE CRIB AND THE CROSS

FR RON ROLHEISER OMI

The Gospel stories about the birth of Jesus are not a simple retelling of the events that took place then, at the stable in Bethlehem. In his commentaries on the birth of Jesus, the renowned scripture scholar Raymond Brown highlights that these narratives were written long after Jesus had already been crucified and had risen from the dead and that they are coloured by what his death and resurrection mean. At one level, they are as much stories about Jesus' passion and death as they are about his birth. When the Gospel writers looked back at the birth of Jesus through the prism of the resurrection they saw in his birth already the pattern for both his active ministry and his death and resurrection: God comes into the world and some believe and accept him and others hate and reject him. For some, his person gives meaning, for others it causes confusion and anger. There is an adult message about Christ in Christmas, and the meaning of Christmas is to be understood as much by looking at the cross as by looking at the crib. Hardly the stuff of our Christmas lights, carols and cribs.

And yet, these too have their place. Karl Rahner, not naïve to what Raymond Brown asserts, argues that, even so, Christmas is still about happiness, and the simple joy of children captures the meaning of Christmas more accurately than any adult cynicism. At Christmas, Rahner contends, God gives us a special permission to be happy: "Do not be afraid to be happy, for ever since I [God] wept, joy is the standard of living that is really more suitable than the anxiety and grief of those who think they have no hope. ... I no longer go away from the world, even if you do not see me now. ... I am there. It is Christmas. Light the candles. They have more right to exist than all the darkness. It is Christmas. Christmas that last forever." At Christmas, the crib trumps the cross, even as the cross does not fully disappear.

How do the cross and the crib fit together? Does Calvary cast a permanent shadow on Bethlehem? Should Christmas disturb us more than console us? Is our simple joy at Christmas somehow missing the real point?

No. Joy is the meaning of Christmas. Our carols have it right. At Christmas, God gives us a special permission to be happy, though that must be carefully understood. There is no innate contradiction between joy and suffering, between being happy and undergoing all the pain that life hands us. Joy is not to be identified with pleasure and with the absence of suffering in our lives. Genuine joy is a constant that remains with us throughout all of our experiences in life, including our pain and suffering. Jesus promised us "a joy that no one can take away from you". Clearly that means something that doesn't disappear because we get sick, have a loved one die, are betrayed by a spouse, lose our job, are rejected by a friend, are subject to physical pain, or are enduring emotional distress. None of us will escape pain and suffering. Joy must be able to co-exist with these. Indeed it is meant to grow deeper through the experiences of pain and suffering. We are meant to be women and men of joy, even as we live in pain. That's a colouring, taken from their understanding of Jesus' death and resurrection, which the Gospel writers insert into their narratives about his birth.

But, of course, that is not what children see when they get caught up in the excitement of Christmas and when they look at the Christ-child in the crib. Their joy is still innocent, healthily protected by their naiveté, still awaiting disillusion, but real nonetheless. The naïve joy of a child is real and the temptation to rewrite and recolour it in light of the disillusionment of later years is wrong. What was real was real. The fond memories we have of anticipating and celebrating Christmas as children are not invalidated when Santa has been deconstructed. Christmas invites us still, as John Shea poetically puts it, "to plunge headlong into the pudding." And despite all the disillusionment within our adult lives, Christmas still offers us, depressed adults, that wonderful invitation.

Even when we no longer believe in all the cribs, lights, carols, cards, colourful wrapping-paper, and gifts of Christmas no longer bring the same thrill, the same invitation still remains: Christmas invites us to be happy, and that demands of us an elemental asceticism, a fasting from adult cynicism, a discipline of joy that can hold the cross and the crib together so as to be able to live in a joy that no one, and no tragedy, can take from us. This will allow us, at Christmas, like children, to plunge headlong into the pudding.

Christmas gives, to both children and adults, permission to be happy.

All the clergy want to express their thanks for all the cards, gifts, Christmas kindnesses and good wishes that have arrived for them – too many to thank individually, but be assured of their gratitude. They are also very grateful for all your support and prayers throughout this strange year.

Also, special thanks to everyone who contributed so much to make our Christmas celebrations so wonderful and safe at all our churches. It was a tribute to teamwork and selflessness, and it was, as Fr Mark hoped

A Christmas to Remember

The Christmas edition of our magazine Crosskeys is out now. If you get the newsletter emailed to you, you should have received it directly (if you don't, why not add yourself to the list – email hello@stpeterswinchester.org.uk) Or you can find it on the website or this is a direct link.

Newsletter We are planning on making some changes to the newsletter in the New Year - so we'd love to hear from you if you have any comments. Do you think it's too detailed or too long? What do you think of the cover email? Do you read every word, or just skim? Which features do you like, and which would you get rid of? Email editor@stpeterswinchester.org.uk

The Christmas Crib / Nativity Scene remains in St Peter's church and can be visited whenever the church is open. It's traditional each year to collect crib offerings to support those in need. This year, ours will go to the Knights of the Holy Sepulchre to assist children and schools in the Holy Land: see more here www.khs.org.uk They are a Roman Catholic order of knighthood under the protection of the Holy See. The Pope is sovereign of the Order. They ask "Please pray at the crib for all our Christian brothers and sisters in the Middle East at this time." The Outdoor Trail and Crib is in place in the grounds of St Peter's till 1st January, and can be visited any time – please bring an angel if you can!

Advent Calendar in Reverse Many of you took up the idea of a reverse Advent Calendar, where you put something in for those in need. We were keen to support our partnerships with local charities such as the Apostleship of the Sea - <https://www.stellamaris.org.uk> - Trinity Winchester - <https://trinitywinchester.org.uk/> - or The Winchester Night Shelter - <https://wcns.org.uk/christmasdonations>. These are the suggested donations for those in need: Woolly hats; soap; shampoo; toothpaste; combs; chocolates; deodorant; socks; jumpers/sweaters; woolly gloves; long underwear (tops/bottoms of various sizes); new socks and underwear, chocolates and sweets, Amazon gift cards, coffee shop gift cards, travel clocks, thermos flasks, headphones, rucksacks, nail care kits, waterproof trousers. You can continue to bring items to St Peter's church at mass times until the Epiphany, 6th Jan. If you have items to share but cannot leave your house, please contact the office – 01962852804 – and we will see if it's possible for them to be collected.

PLEASE PRAY FOR the repose of the souls of those who have died recently

Bishop's survey for all parishioners

Bishop Philip writes: 'I want to understand better what the people and parishioners of our Diocese think and what they consider is important to them as we journey in faith together. So we have created a survey. It covers many areas and will take 10-20 minutes to complete. Here is a link to it: <https://www.surveymonkey.com/r/2XRKQDS>. It can also be found on the diocesan website www.portsmouthdiocese.org.uk We will publish the results in the Spring.' If you are not online and would like a paper copy, please let us know.

PRAYER CORNER:

Each week, this section will contain an intercession that I hope every parishioner will pray for during the coming week. In this way, we will all pray to the Lord for the parish’s mission, because “if the Lord does not build... in vain do the builders labour” (Ps 127:1) Fr. Mark

This Week’s Intention " Let us pray that we begin this New Year with God in our hearts, living each day with hope, joy and love as we use our gifts in the service of the Lord."

Thank you to Sandra Drower (Senior Pastoral Worker)

On behalf of the parish, Fr Mark would like to offer an enormous “thank you” to Sandra Drower, who is stepping back from her role as our Senior Pastoral Worker at the end of this month, after six years in post. Sandra has offered excellent support, supervision and mentoring to our parish pastoral workers and others, and has been responsible for establishing and supporting much wonderful work in our Neighbourhood Groups. The activities of the hospitality group, including the Night of Lights, the “24 hours for the Lord” and Christmas lunches with Trinity, are just a few examples of the many blessings brought to us through Sandra’s expertise, wisdom and dedication. Many parishioners will also know her from her unstinting work at the Alpha sessions.

Sandra’s professionalism and commitment have shone through her work, complemented by her deep understanding of spirituality. Sandra has also given generously of her time as a volunteer. We’re delighted that Sandra will remain a fully committed member of our parish and very much part of our community life beyond as we move forward.
